ACTS 4:33, NIV

Quotation of the week:

Perfection, therefore, is a principal doctrine of the Christian religion; and in this view of it we have a strongly presumptive proof that the Christian system is of divine origin; for although a false religion might teach perfection, which by the way is not the case, Idolatry and Mahometanism omitting it, yet we cannot imagine how a religion coming from God to man, in his present and preternatural condition, should fail to inculcate it as a chief doctrine. Hence the holy Oracles and all the sacred ministrations of the church are given and ordained "for the perfecting of the Saints"—"that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." 2 Tim. iii. 17 -- Walter Scott, The Evangelist, "Perfection No.1", Jan. 1, 1840

"It Is Done!"

The vision of the seven angels with their bowls of wrath follows the same pattern as the earlier visions of the seven seals and the seven trumpets. Forces are at work, governed by God, which are designed to get mankind to repent and turn to God; in each of the cases, the vision ends with some portrayal of the end of God's plan on earth. When the seventh angel sounds, however, it is the final vision in this cycle of sevens where it is announced in tones of finality, "It is done!" Following this vision are God's final judgments, broken out for communication purposes as the judgment of Babylon, the judgment of the beast and the false prophet, the judgment of the dragon, and the judgment of men.

- The seventh bowl of wrath – It was written earlier about the seven angels, "And I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous, seven angels who had seven plagues, which are the last, because in them the wrath of God is finished" (Revelation 15:1). Thus, when the seventh angel pours out his bowl of wrath, the announcement comes from heaven. "And the seventh angel poured out his bowl upon the air; and a loud voice came out of the temple from the throne, saying, 'It is done.'" (Revelation 16:17). This is very parallel to Jesus' closing statement as He completed the work of His earthly sojourn, "It is finished!" (John 19:30).
- The great earthquake – In this vision, John sees a couple of things which establish that this is the finale of what happens in God's efforts to reach the lost and stubborn of the race of men. First, the earthquake: "And there were flashes of lightning and sounds and peals of thunder; and there was a great earthquake, such as there had not been since man came to be upon the earth, so great an earthquake was it, and so mighty" (Revelation 16:18). In the vision, the lightning and the thunder set the stage for the rumble of the most massive earthquake ever. Here's what happens to Babylon (which had been introduced earlier, and which represents "the world" in contrast to "Jerusalem" which represents the church of the Lord). "And the great city was split into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell" (Revelation 16:19). Babylon gets special attention: "And Babylon the great was remembered before God, to give her the cup of the wine of His fierce wrath." As the apostle Paul stated, "For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men" (Romans 1:18).
- The last events – The cities of the nations, as described, fell. "And every island fled away, and the mountains were not found" (Revelation 16:20). In Second Peter, this end of the physical realm is predicted in these terms, "But the day of the Lord will come like a thief, in which the heavens will pass away with a roar and the elements will be destroyed with intense heat, and the earth and its works will be burned up" (2 Peter 3:10).

The hard-hearted, stubborn, rebellious hearts of men are evident even as the efforts of God to reach man have ratcheted up. The second point in the finale: "And huge hailstones, about one hundred pounds each, came down from heaven upon men; and men blasphemed God because of the plague of the hail, because its plague was extremely severe" (Revelation 16:21). No matter how severe the consequences of turning against God, there is no pleading for relief or mercy, only the shouting and reviling of those who are angry at God because He did not run the universe for their individual benefits.

What a history there has been concerning man! What began as "very good" has ended in man's blaspheming God. But in the process there were truth-seekers who turned to God on His terms, and they constitute the redeemed and the new Jerusalem. "Babylon the great" is going to receive the "cup of wine of His fierce wrath"; "Jerusalem" will be immeasurably blessed. Saints need to remember that each day they are casting their votes for Babylon or Jerusalem by their interests and priorities. Choose well!

Each day saints are casting their votes for "Babylon" or for "Jerusalem."
