

“So all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and King David made a covenant with them before the LORD at Hebron; then they anointed David king over Israel. David was thirty years old when he became king, and he reigned forty years.”

-- 2 Samuel 5:3,4

“For while we were still helpless, at the right time Christ died for the ungodly. For one will hardly die for a righteous man; though perhaps for the good man someone would dare even to die. But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.”

“There is great outcome in man. He can be improved. It is perfectly possible for us to reform. Let us then go forward, onward and upward, till we are what God would have us to be, and till we are presented faultless, by Jesus Christ, before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy.” -- Walter Scott, The Evangelist, Jan. 1, 1839, “Preface”

Reasonings from Revelation

He Who Rides the White Horse

Babylon of Revelation has been judged, broken out separately to give its judgment proper emphasis as an encouragement to the suffering saints of God. Next in line for emphasis are the “beast” and the “false prophet.” (All judgment happens at the same end of time; these judgments are pictured in Revelation as one following another for emphasis rather than a timeline.) But who would be capable of executing judgment upon the “beast” of Revelation chapters 13, 16, and 17? And who would have the strength to take on the false prophet at the same time? Answer: He who rides the white horse!

- “Faithful and True” – The next scene in the vision opens for the apostle John, “in the Spirit on the Lord’s Day” (Revelation 1:10). “And I saw heaven opened,” he writes, “and behold, a white horse, and He who sat upon it is called Faithful and True; and in righteousness He judges and wages war” (Revelation 19:11). While the text does not specifically say this is Jesus, no One else could fit the description given here. “The only begotten God, who is in the bosom of the Father,” is the explanation and complete revelation of the great I AM. It has taken Him the entire history of the earth, as well as His establishment of and redemption of the church, to establish to the satisfaction of any objective man or angel that He is “Faithful,” stating and keeping His promises. He is “True,” having established the truthfulness of the testimony of Jesus. Thus it is “in righteousness,” then, that He judges, and likewise it is in righteousness that the God of peace wages war.
- His description – He who rides the white horse is presiding over Armageddon. “And His eyes are a flame of fire,” just as He appears in the opening of the book of Revelation, “and upon His head are many diadems,” representing His kingship over all. “And He has a name written upon Him which no one knows except Himself” (Revelation 19:12). What a NAME that must be!! “And He is clothed with a robe dipped in blood...” (Revelation 19:13). That robe of His has been completely immersed in blood, as befits Him who wages war. “...and His name is called The Word of God.” He “who in the beginning was the Word” is He who at the end is that same Word.
- His appearing on the battlefield – The white horse and its Rider have appeared on the battlefield. “And the armies which are in heaven,” is the apostle’s vision, “clothed in fine linen, white and clean, were following Him on white horses” (Revelation 19:14). The armies...The bride, consisting of the saints, is described as clothed in white linen; so this picture of the armies could be another metaphor. “And from His mouth comes a sharp sword, so that with it He may smite the nations; and He will rule them with a rod of iron...” (Revelation 19:15). Again, as in Revelation chapter one, Jesus is depicted as having a sharp sword emanating from His mouth, which is the written word of God. The “nations” are smitten with this word, as Jesus Himself said, “the word I spoke is what will judge him at the last day” (John 12:48). That sword, which is the written word of God, is also the “rod of iron” by which He rules, and as Jesus Himself also said, “the Scripture cannot be broken” (John 10:35). “...and He treads the wine press of the fierce wrath of God, the Almighty.” “Fierce wrath...” Words to consider carefully.

As this portion of the vision reaches its climax, John records, “And on His robe and on His thigh He has a name written, ‘KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.’” (Revelation 19:16). What an army has appeared on this horizon! And what a General is at its head! “For the day of vengeance was in My heart, and My year of redemption has come” (Isaiah 63:4).”
